The ecpn foundation's ethos is to believing in all peoples equality, acceptance of their special individual personal qualities and potentials through pursuing the understanding and expressing of the arts

The ecpn provide free arts awareness workshops that are created for peoples of all capabilities, ages, genders and nationalities.

The aim of the workshops are a basic introduction of awareness in art and design a way of seeing and to appreciate how the arts express nature, emotions, feelings and believes. We can discover that the arts show us the similarities between all of us, our fillings, our worlds, cultures and humanity; it can make us understand each other and create equality between us that can create a peaceful better world to live in.

The ecpn arts and design workshops will be providing guidance to all students including special needs support care and for any other group or individual who wishes to have an introduction to appreciating Art and Design.

They are held in an informal relaxed atmosphere in very small groups of preferable 2 - 3 persons in a group plus tutor and for 1-2 minors accompanied by family plus tutor and special needs 1 -2 persons who must be always accompanied by a carer or a member of their family plus tutor.

The workshop's educational material is based on the "Art and Design for All" book syllabus on creative art and environmental design for all

We can also arrange transport to and from arranged locations to the workshop studio and snacks all for free.

The Workshops are organised every spring and autumn.

The availability for bookings starts from now for next Autumn 2023 - 2024; please book early as places are limited
